Release of Liability for Use of Email

As part of my effort to support your child, keep you informed, and communicate with others with regard to your child, I may use email as a form of communication. Your email address is considered confidential; however, you should be aware that email communications are not secure. Hackers and others can access and intercept emails, thereby learning information contained in the emails. Unfortunately, no data transmission over the Internet can be guaranteed to be 100 percent secure. As a result, while I will strive to protect your personal information I cannot ensure or warrant the security of any information you transmit to me or any information provided online, and you do so at your own risk. I will not be liable for disclosures of your personal information due to errors in transmission or unauthorized acts of third parties; however, once I receive your transmission, I will do my best to ensure its security on my computer system by making reasonable efforts to protect the information.

By signing below, you agree to release me, to the extent permitted by law, from any liability arising out of the use of email communications.
